No surprises, ruled homicide, but the immediate cause was complications of asphyxia in the setting of physical restraint due to excited delirium and PCP intoxication. PCP was in his system (and that's from the sample of the hospital blood when he was admitted that the ME tested). The full report will be finalized next week which will give us more of an explanation. If I need to follow up with Dr. Granger for additional explanation I will.

The officers are coming n Monday late morning for their interviews.
